

CHAMPION OF Change

Our haven for escape, our sanctuary for gathering, our catalyst for personal development. Year after year, Piedmont Park remains a vital part of our city's livelihood.

As integral as Piedmont Park is to our community, community is integral to the growth of Piedmont Park. It's why the Piedmont Park Conservancy was founded in 1989: to bring Atlanta's residents together in protecting, enhancing and preserving our park as an urban green space for all.

As we explore the 34th year of the Conservancy, we embark on change—within our city, our park grounds, our visitors and, most notably, our fellow champions who enable us to dream bigger than ever.

Our Mission

To enhance and preserve Piedmont Park as a vital, urban green space and as a cultural and recreational resource that enriches the quality of life for all Atlantans.

Piedmont Park Conservancy is the non-profit champion of Atlanta's renowned, historic Piedmont Park. In partnership with the City of Atlanta, the Conservancy enhances and preserves Piedmont Park for all who live in, work in, and visit Atlanta.

Funded through philanthropic support, program service revenue, and large capital campaigns, the Conservancy has raised and reinvested over $110 million into the Park since its founding in 1989.

In 2023, Piedmont Park Conservancy remained firmly committed to our mission 'To enhance and preserve Piedmont Park as a vital, urban green space and as a cultural and recreational resource that enriches the quality of life for all Atlantans.' With the ongoing support of our corporate partners, individual donors, volunteers, and program participants, the Piedmont Park Conservancy was able to navigate unexpected financial headwinds post-COVID and is poised to emerge stronger for our 35th year in 2024 and beyond.

Notably, the Conservancy welcomed its first new President & CEO in ten years, Doug Widener, following Mark Banta's retirement. Doug's arrival in October 2023 is a pivotal bellwether for the future of Piedmont Park as a dynamic, diverse, accessible green space for Atlanta, our surrounding areas and the Southeastern U.S. More specifically, under Doug's leadership the Conservancy will undertake a comprehensive, community-driven master planning process to garner feedback and input on the park's future, including the potential expansion of the park in the coming years. The Conservancy will also launch a new capital campaign to fund this park expansion.

And while we look ahead with excitement and anticipation, in reflecting on 2023 we recognize that everything we do—from small landscaping efforts to special events and STEAM-based educational programs—is only made possible with the continued support of so many. In 2023, we welcomed more than six million visitors to Piedmont Park from every Atlanta neighborhood (and well beyond), almost 3,000 corporate and individual volunteers, and more than 800 participants at our EnviroVentures Camps—the best year for the camp since the COVID-19 pandemic. This small sampling of statistics demonstrates the strength of not just our footprint in this ever-changing city but what we have to offer a broad spectrum of people.

Preservation and enhancement of Piedmont Park is an enduring honor and our unflinching mission. We want to thank our partners at the City of Atlanta whose continued contributions have helped the park grow and thrive. Our gratitude extends to park visitors, supporters, community members, and friends who share in our commitment to keep Piedmont Park "Atlanta's Beating Green Heart." Please let the following pages fill you with a sense for the year that was and the bright future we will build together. Many thanks for your support in preserving and enhancing the park we all love.

Our Helping Hands

We're grateful to the 2,831 volunteers who spent time cleaning the park, removing invasive species, leading tours and helping with various programs and special events!

“Last fall (2023), I joined the Civic Leadership Program with Hands on Atlanta, in an effort to spend more time and effort volunteering to help my hometown. I was ecstatic when I learned that my partner organization would be the Piedmont Park Conservancy. I live only a few blocks away, and being able to directly impact my local neighborhood is delightfully fulfilling.”

“I look forward to the summer months so I can lap swim in the mornings at Piedmont Park. Watching the sun rise while swimming laps is a peaceful and productive way to start the day. On other mornings I love to walk or jog in the park. I think of Piedmont Park as a welcoming spot for everyone in the city. It's one of the places that helps me feel connected to Atlanta and my neighbors. I suggest everyone in the area should visit the park and also see how they can help with Conservancy programs. Maintaining Piedmont Park as one of the jewels of the city should be a priority of every resident.”

“We couldn't imagine a better venue to commemorate our marriage. We met in Atlanta and wanted to show tribute to that. Just any venue wouldn't do that. We also wanted our guests to experience what our beautiful city has to offer and Greystone met our desires perfectly! With the beautiful skyline in the back of our photos, plus the upbeat vibes of Piedmont park on a sunny Saturday... It was perfect.”

Jessica and Jürgen S.

Our Operations

The Piedmont Park Conservancy contributes to over 75% of daily operations needed to maintain Atlanta's most visited public park. From landscaping to addressing various service requests, the Conservancy's contributions are essential in creating a welcoming and vibrant space for all visitors to enjoy.

It takes a village to keep our park growing. Here's what that looked like in 2023:

63,150 lbs.
of material recycled

132
park service repairs

546 yds.
of mulch laid

1,325
bales of pine straw

9,450
flowers planted

173,000

Our Vision for a Bright 2024

The Piedmont Park Conservancy—in partnership with the City of Atlanta—is excited to lead and undertake a comprehensive, community-driven planning effort in 2024 as an important step in keeping Piedmont Park the thriving, beating heart of the city for generations to come.

Although smaller, targeted plans have been completed in recent years, this will be the first comprehensive project of this scope since 1995.

The unique opportunity to expand Piedmont Park's area and amenities to the corner of Piedmont Avenue and Monroe Drive, as the nearby expansions of the Atlanta BeltLine and the Atlanta Botanical Garden are taking place, makes now the perfect time to develop a new plan and vision for Piedmont Park.

Here's how we're putting it into action:

Summer 2024 Master planning begins

Solicitation from community on ideas for new park features, programs, and uses as well as any concerns.

Winter 2024 Draft plan to City of Atlanta for review and approval

Develop schematic designs and plans to visualize how these elements may be represented throughout the park. Input from the community and key stakeholders will be garnered in person and online before submittal.

Spring 2025 Plan approval from City of Atlanta

The City of Atlanta formally approves the plan and the Piedmont Park Conservancy leads the execution of the plan.

Summer 2025 Capital Campaign

This campaign will prioritize the park's expansion as the initial phase of the plan's implementation, with subsequent phases focusing on other areas within the existing park.
